Your Dream Garden Comes True!

*"The garden is very still,
It is dazed with moonlight,
Contented with perfume,
Dreaming the opium dreams of its folded poppies."*

Amy Lowell.

HEALTH! and Peace! and Beauty! and Flowers! and Quiet! The age-old gifts of a garden to garden lovers!

Health—the glowing, alertly alive kind which follows close communion with the warming, healing soil.

Peace—the welcomed, soothing of jagged, unsteady nerves, hurt by too much hurry and bustle.

Quiet—with the monotonous drone of bees and the pleasant trumpeting of birds the only sounds.

Beauty—there's night-time beauty, subdued with the garden jointly illuminated by the golden light of the fireflies and the silvery moon; or, daytime beauty, now flaunting all its medley of colors beneath the warming rays of the sun.

Such are the blessings and fruits of your garden in addition to its always glorious flowering beauty.

Are you claiming your share in all this rapture? There is nothing which so easily, so effectively aids you in doing just this, which so surely makes your garden a part of your life and pleasure, as garden furniture. Benches and arbor seats invite you to longer hours out of doors. Trellises which encouragingly mark off the growth of the roses. Fences which shut off trespassing eyes and feet and give you an appreciated privacy. Gateways, gay decorative sign posts to hospitality. Pergolas—beautifiers of any garden, large or small, ambitious or humble. Sundials—gardens' traditional timetellers of sunny hours. Crystal gazing globes to catch the changing lights. Mayhap two graceful trellises with an intensely practical bent of holding up clothes lines when they are needed.

Useful but Beautiful. Sturdily built but Graceful. Simple yet Artistically right. And so reasonably priced, considering their top-notch quality, that you will be pleasantly surprised.

So it goes, all through the Unadilla Yard and Garden Furniture list.

Concerning Specifications and Prices

Unadilla Decorative Yard and Garden Furniture is made of selected, durable materials, White Pine and Spruce being largely employed because of their time-tried-and-proven adaptability to such constructions and capability of taking and retaining paint, for which reason fine appearance and perfect condition continue through the seasons with least subsequent thought or refinishing attention on the owner's part. All posts that are designed to enter the ground are made of Chestnut, the wood-supreme for such purposes.

The component parts of all pergolas, arbor seats, lattices, etc., are of dimensions that give symmetry and proportion to the construction as a whole and are easily set up by the most inexperienced person. The ready-to-erect sections or units just slip into place readily and fit accurately. Joints possess double strength in that they are both dowelled and glued together with the same water-proof glue as is used in making the planes of air-craft. All nails, brads, bolts and nuts are galvanized to prevent rusting and subsequent disfigurement of the furniture from such stains. Lastly, but all important, every decoration receives two coats of good white lead and oil paint before leaving our factory.

Any of the pergolas shown in this catalog can be furnished with either round or square columns as purchaser prefers.

The quotations appearing in the accompanying detached price list cover everything required to complete the construction above ground. They do not include cost of foundation, erection, final coats of paint or transportation. Delivery is F. O. B. cars at Unadilla, N. Y.

Instructions covering the building of a suitable and permanent foundation for the larger pieces and the erection thereon of the item purchased, are furnished with each order.

Our drafting and factory facilities are not limited to the production only of the designs shown in this booklet. Any sketch or design of your own, or your landscape architect's conception, accompanied with desired specifications, can be promptly built on special order.

The Unadilla name plate, affixed to each decoration, is your guaranty of its genuineness and our warranty of a high-class product—absolutely right in every way—bound to measure up to expectations.

Whatever your particular needs in art wood craft, we can and will be pleased to promptly supply the items.
